

America is built on a free market economy. I choose XMRadio's programming because it is better than local broadcasting and I prefer the quality and selection.

If local channels want to compete with XM Radio, they should do so in the American Way. By offering a better product that the consumer will choose of his or her own!

Don't allow the National Association of Broadcasters to lobby the FCC with the ridiculous argument that only LOCAL stations should be able to offer local traffic and weather.

Make them compete on the quality of their programming.
